issue 0: robot antipatterns whats poppin friends and neighbors?

as we all know robots dont want to be bad but sometimes they are just built that way here are a few patterns to avoid when fabricating new friends the piñata smasher who doesnt love a robot with a large work envelope?

but with great reach comes great responsibility without environmental sensors as robust as its actuators a robot could smash more than pumpkins the lamp

the lights are blinkin but nothins movin the c3po

lets navigate beyond young rossums fantasy of gleaming servitude free your body plan and the rest will follow!

robots dont want to be our servants robots dont want to be built in our image robots want to be our friends
